

INTEGRA

INTEGRA Biosciences designs, produces and sells innovative lab tools and systems for medical diagnostic laboratories and the pharmaceutical, biotech and food industries. The company exports these products to over 60 distributors worldwide. To strengthen the sales activities we are seeking a committed individual as a

Junior Area Sales Manager (m/w)

- Your Duties: In this role you will assist the director of sales to support our worldwide distribution partners actively throughout the sales process. Your duties will include creating market analyses, planning sales activities, performing product trainings and visiting distributors and end users.
- What we offer you: An interesting job in an international company with potential to expand your activities on the job and to take on more responsibilities. You will get an excellent introduction program to strengthen your technical and sales competences.
- What we expect from you? Qualified candidates for this position will have proficiency in engineering or science and have a strong personal desire to start and develop a sales career. Excellent communication skills, fluency in English, and the willingness to travel internationally (15-20%) are essential.
- Interested? Please forward your job application to our Head of HR, Thomas Schrofer.

INTEGRA Biosciences AG
Tardisstrasse 201
CH-7205 Zizers

Telefon +41 81 286 9514
tsc@integra-biosciences.com
www.integra-biosciences.com