

PRESS RELEASE

INTEGRA Biosciences invests for further business expansion ..

INTEGRA Biosciences (www.integra-biosciences.com), a specialist supplier of innovative laboratory products, has announced as a result of continuing international growth that it has made a considerable investment in expanding its Swiss headquarters.

As of January 2005, INTEGRA Biosciences will operate out of its new purpose-designed facility. The move provides the opportunity for the first time for all departments to be located in the same building which should lead to streamlined communications, faster response to customer queries and increased efficiency especially in areas such as product development.

In addition the expansion includes a modern well-equipped customer support facility for seminars as well as product and service training.

INTEGRA Biosciences is an ISO 9001 certified company that develops and manufactures high quality products that help scientists to accomplish their daily work more efficiently. An informed worldwide sales network provides responsive and competent services to customers. For further information on the company and its range of innovative laboratory products please visit the INTEGRA Biosciences website at www.integra-biosciences.com.
